President's Corner

by Pres. Dennis Loba

Happy New Year to all! Let me begin by inviting all of you to our next and 5th CWWHA Annual Encampment to be held during the Ohio Civil War Show in Ashland, OH April 28-29, 1991. I'm hoping that even more of you will be able to attend than last year. You may think I'm jumping the gun a little bit, but now is really the time to start planning! We will have our normal "Veteran" area at the show, and if you want a table please contact show Chairman Don Williams (see the last issue of "The Veteran" or elsewhere in this issue for his address) as soon as you can. This is a large show but tables sell out very quickly! Don't forget to ask to be placed in the "veteran" section. I'm looking forward to seeing at least the same amount of displays (and more, hopefully) as in the past. Hey, Roger Heiple! This is the 100th anniversary of the 1891 Detroit National G.A.R. Encampment (hint-hint)!

A couple members have asked if they can bring their families to the annual CWWHA dinner/business meeting/presentation on Saturday evening during the Ashland Show.

Yes, you can. The dinner is by all means open to members, their families, friends and guests. I do want to caution, however, those members with small children (such as myself) that the evening is long, and we normally adjourn about 10:30 p.m., so let your parental instincts guide you.

OUR Veterans

The soldiers write of poor food, boredom, and constant drill. They long for family, friends and home. As the impending battle weighs heavily on their minds they see that personal affairs are in order before heading into the uncertainty of combat. Antietam? No - Saudi Arabia.

God bless the USA and our men and women of the armed forces. We look forward to and pray for the safe return of these, our newest veterans. May their contributions and sacrifices never fade from our memory. - Ed.

As you probably have noticed, we've been a little behind in getting our newsletter "The Veteran" out, but this issue should get us back on track. We are also starting a new "For Sale or Trade" column with this issue, so if you have any such items, please send details (description, price, condition, phone number) to Secretary Marshall Brighenti for publication in "The Veteran". All transactions will be between the specific parties involved with "The Veteran" serving only as the informational vehicle. At the present time there will not be a fee for this service.

Welcome to our new members. New and old members alike should feel free to send in your articles, pictures, etc. so we can continue to make our news letter a success. Once again, start planning for Ashland!

Civil War association

Q. — Do you have information on: National Association of Ex-P.O.W. — Civil War, General Harry White, president, such as origin, headquarters, membership records, etc.?

In the 4 Feb 1983 Genealogy Week section John Heisey listed some patriotic organizations. Recently I obtained some records of one that was not mentioned.

The Encampment No. 1 of the Union Veteran Legion located in Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pa., was issued a charter in March 1885. It was composed of sailors, soldiers and marines of the Union Army, Navy and Marine Corps during the War of the Rebellion, who volunteered for a term of three years and were honorably discharged for any cause after a service of at least two continuous years, or were at any time discharged by reason of wounds received in the line of duty; but no drafted person nor substitute, nor anyone who has at any time borne arms against the United States shall be eligible to membership.

At one time there were 164 encampments in various states. Each encampment published yearly a roster of the living and deceased members. H.H., Pittsburgh, PA

A. — Our Encyclopedia of Associations does not list such an association. Some sources that may be able to help are:

Michale J. Winey, Curator, Dept. of the Army, U.S. Army Military Institution, Carlisle Barracks, PA 17013-5009

The Civil War Society, P.O. Box 798, Berryville, VA 22611-0798

Courtney B. Wilson, 8104 Main St., Ellicott City, MD 21043

Civil War Round Table of New York, 289 New Hyde Park Road, Garden City, NY 11530 (or check at the Pittsburgh Library for a Civil War Round Table unit in Pennsylvania).

Perhaps another Civil War buff will be able to offer help. — ek

G.A.R. Commander-in-Chief Gen. Stephen A. Hurlbut, 1866-1868

Submitted by Pres. Dennis Loba
Excerpted from Beath's 'History of the Grand Army of the Republic', 1898, pp
72,73,77

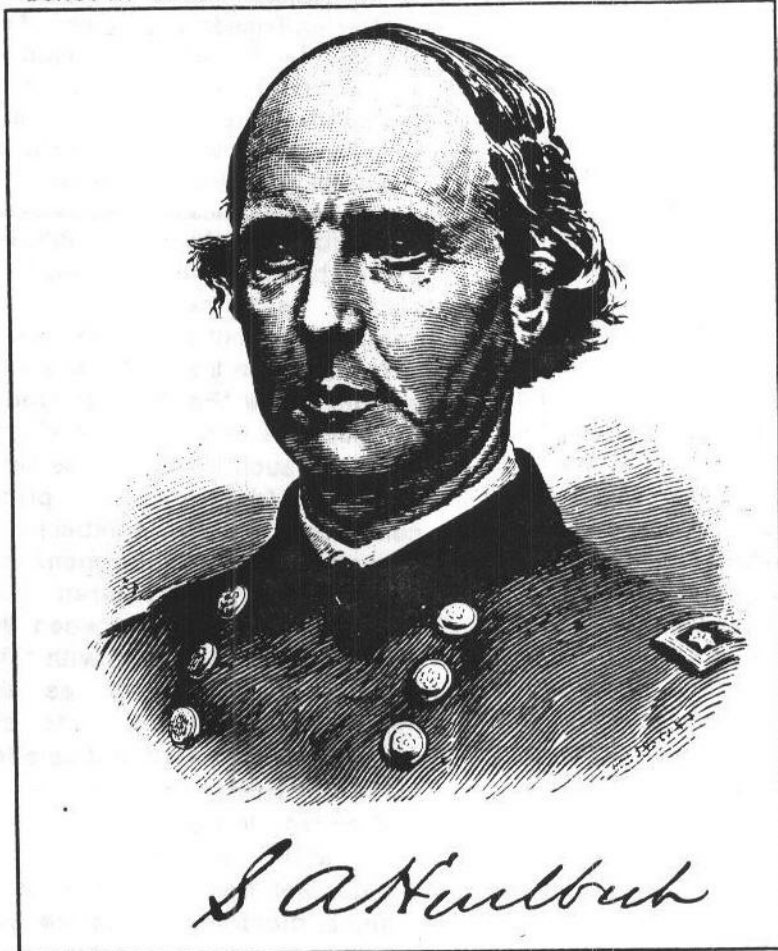

"General Stephen A(ugustus)
Hurlbut(, the first elected) Commander-in-Chief (of the
G.A.R. - Nov. 20, 1866-Jan. 15, 1868), was born in Charleston,
South Carolina, November 29,
1815. He studied law in the office of Judge James L. Pettigru, in Charleston, and entered into practice in that city. He enlisted as a Sergeant with a volunteer company in the Florida War, and before the term expired was assigned to staff duty as Lieutenant. In 1847 he removed to Belvidere, Boone county, Illinois, and immediately secured a lucrative law practice.

He was a leading member of the Illinois convention in 1847, and presidential elector of the Whig ticket in 1848. He served in the

at the request of President-elect Abraham Lincoln. His old preceptor, Judge Pettigru, strongly opposed the secession of his state, and during the whole period of the Rebellion was unwavering in his devotion to the Union.

On May 27, 1861, Captain Hurlbut was commissioned by the President Brigadier-General United States Volunteers, and was first placed on duty in Missouri, where his vigorous measures in holding the community responsible for wrecking railroad trains, and his order freeing the slaves within his command, gave offense to less earnest defenders of the Union. He was afterwards placed in command the 4th Division, Army of the Tennessee, and was the first to disembark at Pittsburgh Landing. In the battle of Shiloh Hurlbut's Division held the key-point of the State Legislation in 1859-1861, and again in 1867. At the outbreak of the Rebellion he commanded a local militia company at Belvidere, and was as Springfield when the first call was made for troops. He telegraphed his company, asking them to enlist, and they responded almost to the man, becoming Company B, 15th Illinois Infantry. Early in 1861 he had visited Charleston upon a special mission battle-field against great odds, repulsing the enemy's frequent attacks, until, when flanked, he was compelled to retire, doing so in good order and maintaining his division and brigade organizations intact.

For bravery and skill at Shiloh he was promoted Major-General. After the evacuation of Corinth he was placed in command of the 16th Army Corps, and had command at Memphis, Tennessee. He was in command of the Department of the Gulf in 1864-1865, succeeding General Banks, and was mustered-out of service June 20, 1865. He resumed practice at Belvidere until 1869, when he was appointed by President Grant Minister of the United States of Bogota, United States of Columbia. He returned home in 1872, was elected to Congress, and was re-elected in 1876. He was appointed by President Garfield Envoy Extraordinary to the Republic of Peru. He died of paralysis of the heart in Chili, March 27, 1882. His body was brought to his home in Belvidere, Illinois for internment."

Editor's Note: It should be noted that while Beath treats Gen. Hurlbut very kindly in the preceding biography, other sources do not. In "Generals in Blue" Warner claims that Hurlbut, although having a creditable military performance, "seems to have exercised every opportunity to line his own pockets" using the influence of his various positions during the Civil war. A special commission even "recommended his arrest and trial for corrupt practices" just before the War's end. Gen. R.S. Canby ordered Hurlbut's arrest and trial but the case was "hushed up and allowed to die" with Hurlbut being "honorably mustered out" on June 20, 1865.

Gen. Hurlbut returned to Illinois and "resumed his political prominence" being elected to the Commander-in-Chief position of the G.A.R. a year later. The G.A.R. was looking for a man of influence and power to lead it and Hurlbut apparently "fit the ticket."

Hurlbut, however, devoted little time to the G.A.R during his tenure. Beath hinted in his "G.A.R. History" that the G.A.R.'s early leaders were unhappy with his (Hurlbut's) failure to call the organization into session in 1867. What is more,

Hurlbut was having problems of his own at about this same time - "well founded charges of drunkenness and corruption."

Hurlbut was later appointed as minister to Columbia and then Peru where he was again charged with mismanagement and trying to financially better himself. As noted above, he died in South America in 1882.

Badge Descriptions

Drawing by Pres. Dennis Loba
Description by Gilbert S. Deibler

The 1886 National Encampment Delegate's Badge, San Francisco, California is a two-part badge with ribbon (see below). The top suspension bar (or badge bar) is silver with a bear over the inscription "San Francisco". The standard star on the GAR member badge. The obverse of the star is circumscribed "GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC VETERAN 1861-1865". The reverse is inscribed "Member Of The 20th National Encampment G A R San Francisco 1886".

The souvenir badge for the 1886 National Encampment is similar to the Delegate's Badge with the following exceptions: 1) the badge bar is gold-colored, 2) the ribbon is red, white and blue, 3) the star is gold in color, and 4) the reverse of the star is inscribed "Souvenir 20th National Encampment G A R San Francisco 1886".

Note: The description of the 1885 National Encampment Delegate's Badge which appeared in the last issue of 'The Veteran' was provided by John Mullay).

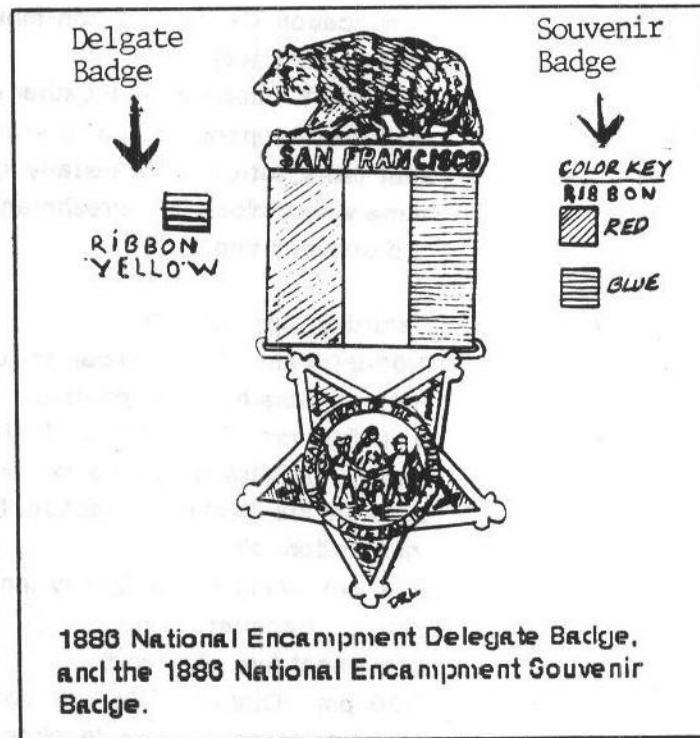

Winners

Congratulations to Edwin Hibarger for winning the "Best Veterans or Living History" award for his Jefferson Davis display at the Nashville, TN show. Congratulations also to Richard Haussmann for his GAR display which won an honorable mention award at the Chicago, IL show!

Question & Answer

Q. Does anyone know what the badge shown on the following page represents? The drawing is one half inch taller than the actual size. The top bar is cast metal; the ribbon has alternating stripes of red, white and blue; the star has a shield, is suspension bar supports a yellow ribbon from which hangs a silver GAR star of smaller size than the enameled in red, white and blue, and hangs from a chain; an arched bar connecting the top two points of the star is inscribed "Patriotic". Maker's name on the reverse is "Grundy, Chicago, pat." - submitted by Walt Rudecki.

A. This is the badge for the Columbia Post No. 706 Department of Illinois. The post was located in Chicago, IL and meetings were held the 2nd and 4th Tuesday of each month. Does anyone know what the initials "A H" represent? This is an unusual Grand Army of the Republic post badge.

Help a Civil War Widow - Daisy Anderson

by Jerry Orton

The last widow of a Civil War veteran living west of the Mississippi River needs your help now.

Born on December 14, 1900 in the deep South, she married Robert Anderson in 1922. They were married until he passed away on November 30, 1930. He is buried in Hemingford, NE. Mr. Anderson was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and they attended many of the state and national encampments of the GAR.

Daisy has been a resident of Hayden, CO since Sept. 19, 1937. She has a book, "From Slavery to Affluence", for sale that was first printed in 1927 and has been reprinted three times since. It is a very informative book about Mr. Anderson. Born in Green County, Kentucky on March 1, 1843, Mr. Anderson took the name Robert Ball after his master. One day in 1864, after being punished unfairly, he joined the US Army and was mustered into the 125th United States Colored Troops. See the below articles.

If you wish to buy this book, please write to Daisy Anderson, P.O. Box 575, Hayden, CO 81639. The book is 90 pages long, and Daisy promises to autograph each one. Cost is $8.50 plus $1.50 for postage.

Daisy goes to Las Vegas

Daisy Anderson, resident of Strawberry Park for more than a half-century, is Routt County's golden girl. You may even see her on the telly, singing a duet with Pearl Bailey.

On Aug. 27 Daisy will be in Las Vegas, reading her poem, "Don't Wait." It was selected as one of several to be read during the sixth annual Poetry Convention. Daisy will be honored as a "Golden Poet."

Last year more than 3,700 poets attended the three-day meeting. This year Bob Hope will be a returning headliner.

According to a letter received several weeks ago, Daisy will have two minutes to read her poem and offer personal remarks. The session will be covered by national television, hooked by satellite to more than 200 stations.

During the convention the $15,000 grand prize will be awarded the winner.

Daisy Anderson

Daisy invited

Daisy Anderson, Routt County's celebrated author, will be presented with a Golden Award at the National Poets Convention to be held in Las Vegas, Nev., in August.

She has been asked to read her poem, "Don't You Wait," to the more than 5,000 delegates. She will also join Pearl Bailey in singing "The Sun Don't Shine Forever." Bob Hope is the honorary master of ceremonies.

Joseph D. Green

Submitted by David Maloney

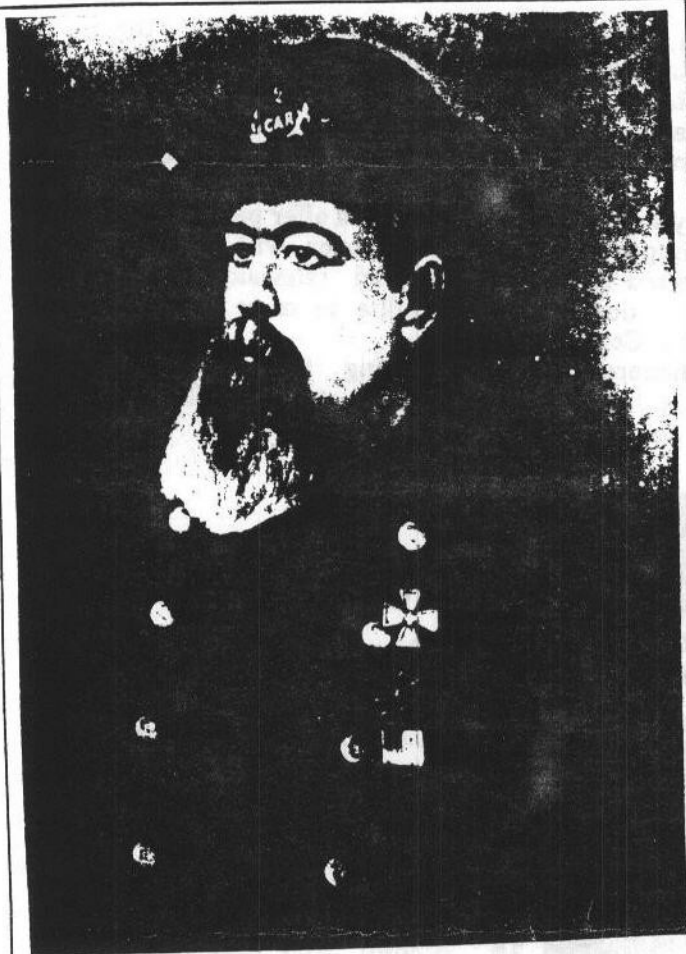

On the following page is a photograph of a pastel portrait of Veteran Joseph D. Green, Company E 7th. Reg't. Maryland

Volunteers. Green was mustered in at Frederick, MD on August 26, 1863. He was wounded (lost a leg) and captured at the Wilderness on May 5, 1864, but was exchanged on Oct. 7, 1864. Joseph Green lived at 41 E. 3rd. Street, Frederick, MD, and was the grandfather of the late Douglas Green (d. 1988), former Frederick City Historian. The pastel along

The items to the right appeared in the "Maine Antique Digest", Jan. 1991. The banner reads: "Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States".

One of the more interesting of the unusual items was this ballot box, 13" x 11" diameter. You drop marbles in it to vote. Presented by Post 5 G.A.R. Dept. NJ to Post 10 G.A.R. Dept. PA, April 11, 1881. It sold for $1760.

Big banner of royal blue silk, some tears, with great embroidered detail. At $577.50, it's well worth repairing, or (God forbid!) cutting out and framing the center section.

Female Captain

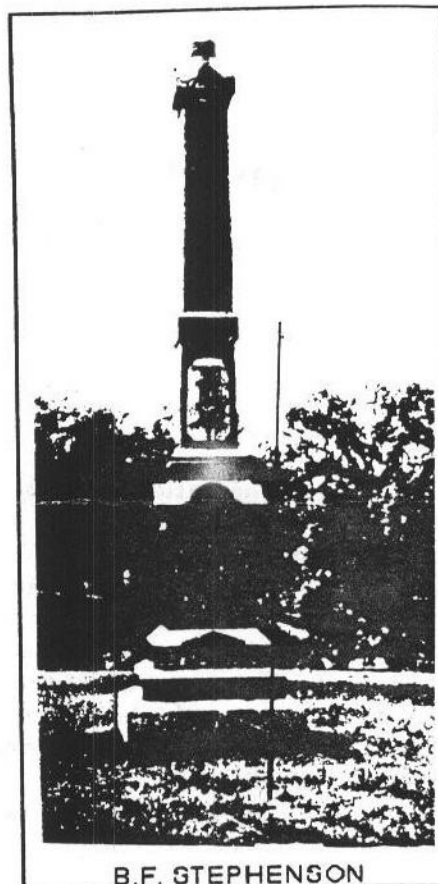

A woman, Sally Louisa Topkins, held the commission of cavalry captain in the Confederate army throughout the Civil War. She was buried with military honors in 1916. -M.V.

The above flasks are examples of label-under-glass, i.e. a paper label is attached to a depressed area on the flask and then covered by a thin wafer of glass not unlike an oversized contact lens. These are greatly sought after by glass, flask and bottle collectors as much for the unusual label-under-glass feature as for their historical significance. The top left is a souvenir flask from the 1899 GAR Philadelphia National Encampment (sold for $330); the top right is from the 1895 GAR Louisville National Encampment (sold for $319), and the lower one is a "Remember the MAINE" commemorative flask (sold for $357.50). - Submitted by Dave Maloney. A BRIEF SKETCH

-OF THE-

...National - Association - of - Naval - Veterans...

OF THE UNITED STATES.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., September 15, 1895.

The National Association of Naval Veterans of the United States was organized in New York City, in January, 1887, but some of the organizations composing the Association were organized as early as 1865 and 1867.

The principles of the Association are:

- 1st. A firm belief and trust in Almighty God.
- 2d. True allegiance to the United States of America, based upon permanent respect for and fidelity to the Constitution and laws.
- 3d. The development of the United States Navy.
- 4th. To discountenance whatever may tend to weaken loyalty, excite insurrection, treason or rebellion.

The object of this Association, as defined in its Constitution, shall be to cherish the memory and associations of the War of the late Rebellion; perpetuate the glorious name and deeds of our Navy; to strengthen the ties of fraternal fellowship and sympathy; to advance its best interests and to extend all possible relief to the widows and children of members; to further the cultivation of Naval Science; to enforce unqualified allegiance to the general government; to protect the rights and liberties of American citizenship, and to maintain National honor, union and independence.

Any officer or enlisted man, who has served in the United States Navy, Marine Corps or Revenue Marine service, during any portion of the time from April 12, 1861, to August 25, 1865, who has not borne arms against the United States, or been convicted of any infamous crime, still in the service, or who has been honorably discharged, or resigned therefrom by an honorable acceptance of resignation, is eligible to membership in this Association.

To promote the principles of this Association, naval veterans throughout the country are invited to form associations subordinate to the National Association, and by frequent meetings to stimulate interest in all that relates to the glorious history of the navy in the Civil War; to secure protection for the living and justice for the dead, and to stand by those who stood shoulder to shoulder with you in the dark days of our country's peril.

Among our members are officers of the highest rank, some of them still in the service, and those who served in very subordinate positions. The social barriers that formerly separated the quarter-deck from the gun-deck have been cast aside by our Association and we meet upon a common level as shipmates. Patriotism knows no distinction or class.

At this time forty associations have been organized, comprising say 6,000 members, but they are but a fraction of the 132,000 men that served in the navy during the Civil War, yet small as our body is relatively, we have accomplished a great deal of good in remedying evils, and obtaining necessary legislation for our branch of the service, and have been accorded a very flattering recognition by the general government and veteran associations with whom we are in hearty accord. With a larger membership and consequent greater opportunity, more may be accomplished. For the interests of the naval veterans have been sadly neglected in the past.

Further information may be had as to form of procedure in organizing an association, by addressing headquarters of the National Association, or by communicating with any shipmate connected with the organization.

❖ STATE SHIELDS. ❖

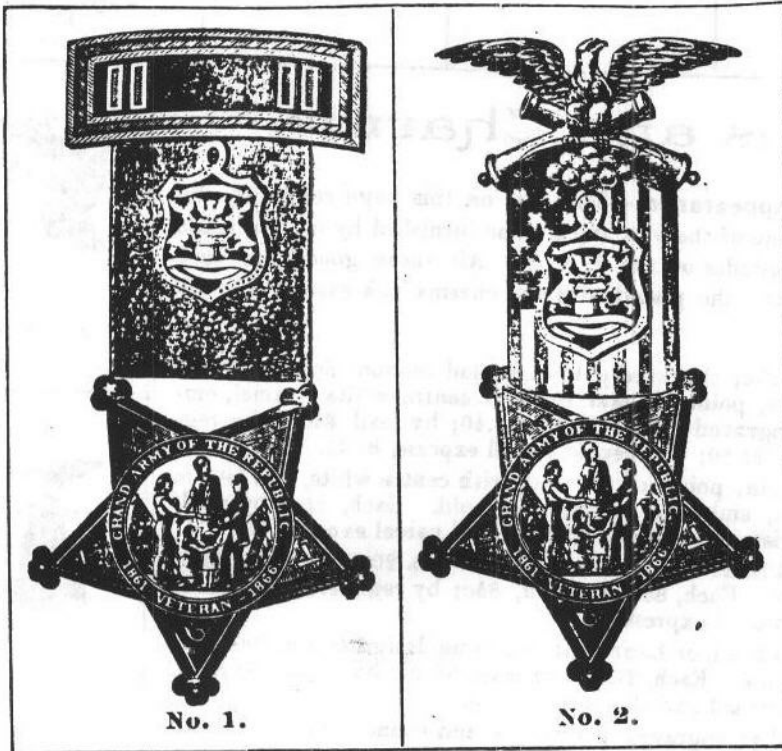

A New Thing.—The “new thing” that we refer to is a small Shield, or State Coat-of-Arms, for members of the G. A. R.

Its Use.—Its use is to designate the Department to which a Comrade wearing it belongs.

How it is Worn.—We now make all our rank badges with a small ring on the back and lower edge, so that a shield may be easily attached. The shield then hangs over the official ribbon, as shown in cut No. 1. (Cut shows old regulation ribbon, not new.) When an officer's rank badge has no ring, he can readily attach the shield directly to ribbon at lower edge of badge with a thread. The shield then also appears as shown in cut No. 1. The shield may also be worn by Comrades who are not officers. In that case it is easily fastened with thread directly to flag ribbon, as shown in cut No. 2.

Its Appearance.—Its size is shown in the accompanying cuts. The coat-of-arms and the border are in gilt; the rest of the front surface is in hard enamel. It is a very handsome ornament.

Its Popularity.—In whatever States these shields have been introduced they have had a prompt and large sale, which, without further comment, is evidence enough that Comrades readily recognize their beauty and usefulness.

No. 1.

What States the Shields are Made For.—We can furnish shields for Comrades of the following States: Michigan, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Kansas, Indiana, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Missouri, Ohio, California, Iowa, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York. We shall soon add other States to this list.

State Shields, each.....50c; by mail, 50c

MEMORIAL BADGES.

Copy for Memorial Badges.—The copy to be printed on Memorial Badges may differ a little from the descriptions of printed matter given hereafter. We can easily print less on a badge, and could print a little more if desired; but it is always well to remember that the less the matter to be printed the better the display, for larger type can be used when there is little matter than when there is a good deal.

Don't Make Mistakes.—Do not fail to write copy plainly and correctly. We cannot be responsible for mistakes made in copy.

Postpaid or Express-paid.—We send all these badges postpaid or express-paid at prices quoted.
